

PeaceMaker is an anti-racist charity which works across all communities, with a particular focus on children and young people from segregated communities, to promote integration, build solidarity and resilience, forge positive relationships across communities, and support communities to collectively respond to the challenges they face.

We have the following vacancy:

Participation Worker

Starting salary £20,000-25,000. Full-time post.

This is an exciting opportunity to join a successful youth-focused organisation supporting young people across Greater Manchester.

Your particular focus will be on leading the development and coordination of PeaceMaker's Youth Board and youth-led systems and structures. You will also provide strategic support to PeaceMaker's Board, project staff, peer educators and volunteers to ensure that youth-led principles are upheld at every level within the organisation.

For this role, project management experience/skills are essential, including a track record of planning development work and analysing progress made. An expert in empowering young people and encouraging their participation, you will be an effective communicator and understand the value of partnership work.

The employment of the successful applicant is subject to a satisfactory CRB check. This post will be based in central Manchester but will work across Oldham and other parts of Greater Manchester.

Initial fixed-term contract for four years (subject to successful probationary period)

For an application pack please contact PeaceMaker on 0161 236 9013, or e-mail info@peacemaker.co.uk. As the PeaceMaker office will be closed over the Christmas holidays, applications can be downloaded from the website at www.peace-maker.co.uk

The closing date for the post is 22 January. Interviews will be held the week commencing 1 February 2010.
